POST OFFICE WASHINGTON, D. C.

Publications Staffs Obtain New Office In Athletic Building

Will Provide Spacious Quarters to Accommodate Personnel of Staffs

The offices of all publications of the University will shortly be moved from present quarters in Building Y on 21st Street to new quarters being prepared for them in the old Women's Athletic Building. The change will be a much needed move to provide adequate and modern office space to accommodate the personnel engaged in turning out the University Hatchet, The Alumni Hatchet, the literary supplement of Hatchet, and the Cherry Tree.

The offices of Marcelle L. Menager, alumni secretary and editor of The Alumni Hatchet, will be located on the first floor, and will provide necessary space for the library, files and records of the Alumni Association at present crowded into two small rooms on the second floor of Building Y.

Henry W. Herzog, graduate manager of publications will be located on one side of the second floor in the new place and the business staffs of The Hatchet and of The Cherry Tree will be installed on the other side of that floor.

New Spaces for Records

Very little space has previously been assigned to the business staffs of The Hatchet and The Cherry Tree and they have therefore been compelled to work under a handicap. Almost no space has been available for storage and records in the old quarters.

The editorial offices of all publications will be located on the third floor. Rebuilding is now in progress and when it is completed there will be a modern plant available to the staffs. Tables, desks, copy boxes, file cases, permanent record files, etc., are all being built in or arranged in such a way as to facilitate the orderly progress of copy from the copy desks to time of final make-up. Anyone who has witnessed the mad scramble engaged in each Sunday night on the third floor of Building Y will well understand the need for more space and a rearrangement of the space used by the editorial staffs.

The Hatchet offices were located in the present zoology building until 1929. The editorial staff, business office, circulation department and advertising department were all located in one room. In 1929 The Hatchet was moved to a basement room of Stockton Hall and one year ago it was moved to its present quarters in Building Y.

Drama Club Plans Tryouts For Play

Positions Are Also Open in Costuming, Scenery, Lighting, Staging

Tryouts for the current production of the Drama Club of George Washington University are announced for Thursday, October 8, at 8:30 p. m., in Corcoran Hall 33. The tryouts will be open to all University students who may have any interest in dramatics whatsoever, and will be under the supervision of Miss Constance Brown, lecturer on play production in the University.

Phyllis Mills, president of the Drama Club, expects that the play will be produced before Thanksgiving, and is therefore exceedingly anxious that there be a large turnout Thursday evening in order that no time may be lost in casting and beginning direction.

There are also vacancies on all the production staffs, including costuming, scenery designing and building, and lighting and stage effects. Anyone who may be interested in this branch of dramaturgy is encouraged to be present at the tryout meeting.

Miss Brown, who will direct the play, is the most recent addition to the staff of the Department of Public Speaking. She received her degree of master of arts at Cornell University, spent a year abroad studying under the famous Max Reinhardt, and has translated a German play into English.

It was in April of this year that the Drama Club gave its last production, "The Cassilis Engagement," at Wardman Park Little Theatre, scoring an undeniable success in the light, amusing, sophisticated comedy. The last previous production of the club had been in 1926, when it presented "Twice Two Is Five."

Hatchet Staff Meeting

There will be a meeting of all students who have filed applications for positions on the editorial staff of The Hatchet on Friday, October 9. Students registered for a full-time course will meet at 3 o'clock p. m. in Corcoran Hall, Room 25. All part-time students and any others who are unable to attend the meeting at 3 o'clock in Corcoran Hall will meet at The Hatchet Office, top floor, building Y, 715 Twenty-first Street, at 8 o'clock p. m. Two meetings, Friday, October 9—one at 3 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 25, the other at 8 p. m. at The Hatchet office.

Four Professors Given Sabbatical

Henning, Ruediger, Schmidt
and Collier Will Study
at Various Places

Four members of the faculty of George Washington University will be absent during the coming year upon sabbatical leave, occupying their time with study, research, writing, and travel.

Dr. George Neely Henning, for 13 years dean of the Graduate School of the University, is to spend the coming year in Paris preparing a revised critical edition of his "Representative French Lyrics of the Nineteenth Century," a text that is in wide use in American colleges and universities.

Dean William Carl Ruediger, a member of the University faculty since 1907 and dean of the School of Education since 1912, will spend the first semester of the academic year at Cornell University engaged in research and writing upon educational subjects. During the second semester he will travel abroad, devoting considerable time to a study of the British educational system. In Dean Ruediger's absence, Professor William Cullen French will act as dean of the School of Education.

Schmidt in Europe

Professor Alfred Francis William Schmidt, a member of the faculty since 1905 and director of the Division of Library Science, will visit the great European libraries at Munich, Leipzig, Vienna, Rome, and Paris. He is to make a special study of the evolution of the book and the development of libraries.

Professor Charles Sager Collier, of the Law Faculty, will study at Harvard University, where he has been designated Thayer Fellow for the year 1931-32, a distinction which was held several years ago by Professor Hector G. Spaulding of the Law Faculty.

Lutheran Club Will Meet Tuesday Next

Weekly Discussion Groups to Be Held
Sundays in Building J

The Lutheran Club of the University will hold an hour of fellowship in the Church of the Reformation at Pennsylvania avenue, near Second street, S. E., next Tuesday, October 13, at 8 p. m. At this "get acquainted" meeting there will be brief remarks by leaders of the future study groups. Refreshments will be served. The "Seventeenth and Pa. Ave. S. E." car, which may be boarded at Twenty-first and Pennsylvania avenue, runs directly past the church.

The Lutheran Club was organized last May for the purposes of increasing social contact among Lutheran students, more closely joining the University Lutherans with the Lutheran churches of the city, and furthering religious life on the campus. All students interested are invited to join. The president is Ralph H. Keister; recording secretary, Ruth Schmidt; corresponding secretary, Anne Burger; and treasurer, Joe Gall. A new vice president will be elected at the next business meeting, as John Nordberg, who has not registered this semester, resigned the office. Meetings are held the second Tuesday of every month.

A unique innovation of the Lutheran Club will be the weekly discussion groups, to be held each Sunday afternoon, beginning October 18, in building J. Such subjects as "Christianity and the World," "Science and Religion," and "Life Choices" will be discussed, a month being devoted to each study.

Troubadour Chorus Trials To Be Given

Christine Spignul Directs
Dancing; Cast Will Be Chosen Later

Tryouts for the chorus of the Troubadours to be held in Corcoran Hall 10 Thursday at 12:10, will give the student body its first glimpse of activity on the 1931 musical comedy of that organization following several months of pre-production reports regarding the progress of planning and designing.

The dancing this year will be under the direction of Christine Spignul who has had two years' experience in previous productions. Her assistants are Betty Reynolds and Jane Allen. Tryouts for the cast will be held next week and will be under direction of Dennis Connell who has coached the last seven shows of the organization. Ada Green will assist him.

The special orchestra organized by the Troubadours, under the direction of George Wenzl, is already holding regular rehearsals.

New Business Director

Several changes have recently been made in the production staff. Ruth DeVane has been appointed to the board as business director. Dan Beattie is managing director, and the other members of the board are Dean Longfellow, stage director; George Wells, company director; Christine Spignul, dancing director; Caroline Brasch, costume director; and Dan Beattie and Carl Wells, co-directors of music.

Mildred Burnham is advertising manager; Dean Longfellow, electrician; Bill Phillips, property manager, and Jerry Cobbs, scenery director. Assistants are: John Madigan, stage; Jane Allen, dancing; Ruth Warren, Elizabeth Spencer and Caroline Schreiner, costumes.

Heimbürger to Edit Literary Supplement

Colonial Review Editor Named to Succeed Walter Everett

At a recent meeting of the board of editors of the Colonial Review, John J. Heimbürger was elected editor for the ensuing year. Heimbürger's election fills the vacancy of editorship created by the failure of Walter B. Everett to return to school this year.

Everett, who was elected editor of the Review just before the close of the school term last year, has been unable to return to George Washington this year due to the illness of his father. He is now attending the Columbia University School of Journalism.

The other members of the board of editors are: Gwendolyn Folsom, Herbert L. Alexander II, Elfr Mooney, Frank Westbrook, Benjamin Schwartz.

Mrs. Mitchell Carroll Makes Interesting Archaeological Tour In Southern Europe

First-Hand Material for Lectures Sought in Visits to Pompeian Excavation Exhibits and Extensive Cruise of Historical Lands

Mrs. Mitchell Carroll has returned to Washington from extensive travels in southern Europe and the Near East in search of new and first hand material for her lectures in archaeology in George Washington University, where six years ago she succeeded the late Dr. Mitchell Carroll.

Mrs. Carroll first sailed for Venice, and among places visited en route special interest centered in Naples, where new exhibits from excavations at Pompeii are now on view in the National Museum. At Venice on July 10 Mrs. Carroll embarked on the Odyssey Cruise of the privately chartered yacht, S. S. Fraga. During the cruise Mrs. Carroll gave a series of lectures on the archaeology of the classic lands visited.

The Fraga followed a course of more than 3,000 miles. Along the eastern shore of the Adriatic the cruise members became acquainted with the picturesque towns of Dalmatia, Zara, Trogir, Spalato, Ragusa and Cattaro. Farther on, in the Ionian Sea, Corfu, Lucina and Ithaca

Football Dance Is Interfrat Success

Entertainment During Intermission Will Feature Event
October 16

Five competing social events failed to undermine the success of the Interfraternity Council dollar dance given Saturday evening in Corcoran Hall 10. Rush functions of various organizations on the campus had a two-edged effect; members and freshmen both were absent from their usual vantage points in C. H. 10. There were, however, over 100 couples celebrating the one-sided victory of G. W. U. gridgers over the not-so-easy-as-was-reckoned Elon College squad. Among them were members of both teams, and signals and yardage were completely forgotten as the strains of Goldman's music sent all present swinging into action.

Mrs. Barrows, director of women's personal guidance, and Dean and Mrs. Henry Gratton Doyle were chaperons for the party, while each member of the Council served on the committee which assisted Chairman Jack Vivian at the door and helped to introduce the strangers and newcomers.

The next Interfraternity dollar dance will be Friday evening, October 16, after the game with Tulsa University. In view of the reputation of the Tulsa team and the recent showing of the G. W. squad a large turnout is expected. There will be a new departure at this dance in the form of entertainment during intermission. Information regarding the nature of the show is not available, but old-timers are said to be suspicious of certain well-known individuals who do native dances and sing native songs. In any event something new or dollar dances is assured and Saturday nighters await the coming of October 16 with ill-concealed interest.

Newman Club Sets October 16 as Date For First Meeting

Plans Made for Calendar of Social Events Beginning With Halloween
Masquerade Dance

The 1931-1932 program of the Newman Club of George Washington University will open October 15 with a meeting in Corcoran Hall 29. Plans are being made for an elaborate schedule of social events, the first being Halloween Masquerade Dance, the date and place to be announced at a later date.

An eight-page pamphlet has been prepared describing in detail the activities of the club and those of the Federation of College Catholic Clubs. The Newman Club of G. W. U. was admitted to membership in the federation two years ago and since that date has been one of the most active Newman Clubs in the East.

Copies of the pamphlet are being mailed this week to all Catholic students in the University who declared themselves as such at the time of registration. Any Catholic student who does not receive a copy is requested to telephone Mary A. Kerwin, president, North 7951, Apt. 316, or Wilbur McNallan, vice president, Metropolitan 4654, or to leave a request marked for McNallan at the Hatchet office.

On July 2, 3, and 4, 1931, twenty-three members of the G. W. Newman Club were present at the National Conference of the Federation of College Catholic Clubs held at the Hotel New Yorker, New York, N. Y. The local delegation was headed by Mary Kerwin; Joseph O'Connor, graduate of the law school, was delegate.

First History Club Meeting Wednesday

Professor Kayser to Speak on "The Anti-Icon of Liberalism"

The first meeting of the History Club will be held Wednesday evening, October 7, at 8 p. m. in Room 15 of Corcoran Hall. The first part of the meeting will be devoted to a business discussion. At 8:30 Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, of the History department, will address the club on the subject of "The Anti-Icon of Liberalism." After the meeting there will be a reception at the Lambie House, 714 Twenty-first street, which will give all the new students of the History department a chance to become acquainted with each other.

The History Club was organized as a testimonial to Dr. Charles Swisher, professor emeritus of history. Each year the club raises money with which to buy books for the Swisher Alcove which is to be located in the new library building.

Although formed primarily for those students majoring in history, the club extends a cordial invitation to all who are interested to be present at the meeting. Numerous interesting programs have been planned for the year, including several pilgrimages to nearby places of historic interest.

Colonials Triumph Over Elon College In Second Victory

Doyle and Carter Play Brilliant
Football in Saturday's Game; Score 43-0

George Washington University's football team completely outclassed the Elon College outfit last Saturday afternoon in the Central High stadium, whipping them to the count of 43 to 0.

The game was an exhibition of football, was not so good for the playing of both teams was, at times, rather sloppy and in the first half the team work on the part of the Colonials was faulty. However, both spectators and the North Carolinians were bewildered by the short snappy passes tossed by Johnny Doyle and by the flashing long legs of Joe Carter.

Again Coach Jim Pixlee conducted his experiments with numerous substitutions throughout the game, at one time about the middle of the second quarter sending in a complete new team with the exception of Kriemelmeyer. Elon could accomplish little against the powerful G. W. U. eleven and in the latter half they desperately resorted to punts and long passes, two of which were intercepted by Colonials and resulted in touchdowns.

Carter Scores First
After the initial kick-off Joe Carter ran the boys from North Carolina ragged plunging through their line and ratted their ends for three first downs and then dashed 30 yards for the first score of the contest. Kriemelmeyer failed to make the point. The next touchdown was the result of a plunge through center by Kriemelmeyer who, after evading the secondary defense, ran 65 yards to the goal. Again he missed the goal for the point afterwards.

For the first few minutes of the second period G. W. U. marched down the field with ominous regularity, then Elon would hold momentarily, kick, and the marching would begin anew. Finally Joe Carter snagged one of the punts and leaped toward Elon's goal to the extent of 35 yards, placing the ball on the middle string of the gridiron. At this point both teams experienced a type of lethargy, for after

Glee Club Members Chosen At Tryouts

Fourteen Named From New
Candidates to Complete
Roster of Club

Tryouts for the George Washington University Men's Glee Club, conducted at the first regular meeting of the organization on Thursday, October 1, resulted in the tentative selection from among the large number of candidates present of fourteen new members of the club.

Twenty-two members of last year's club reported for service, bringing the present roster up to a strength of thirty-six.

Because of the good quality of the voices of many of the candidates, particularly those for the bass sections, Dr. Robert H. Harmon, director of the club, experienced difficulty in making selections. He stated that rejection of a candidate did not necessarily indicate a lack of singing ability, but rather was based upon his nonadaptability to choral work, or upon the limited number of vacancies in the organization.

Reserve List Created

The names of all unsuccessful candidates have been placed upon a reserve list, to be called upon as vacancies may occur.

The present personnel of the club is as follows:

First tenor—Hugh W. Buckingham, Everett C. Cooper, H. E. Fiddesop, Herbert G. Hadley, J. Craig Morris, Tom L. Scott, and Clinton D. Vernon. Second tenor—Daniel C. Beattie, Geoffrey Creyke, Jr., Frank C. Daniel, Ralph R. Gilby, Richard A. Hill, Fred Joiner, Melvin J. Law, William S. McConnell, John W. Perry and George W. Wells.

First bass—Daniel J. Anderson, Carl E. Brown, Claude E. Cooper, Robert W. Cushman, Samuel B. Detwiler, Jr., H. Donal Earl, George Y. Jarvis and Norman D. Morgan.

Second bass—Henry E. Amos, Paul E. Bloom, John M. Cook, J. Allen Crocker, Richard H. Fairman, Benedict J. Genna, W. Beryl Hix, Rollin D. Jones, Clarence Rothberg, Henry E. Stanton and Harold G. Stepler.

Graduate Manager: HENRY W. HERZOG

WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1931.

A Good Beginning

An eminent psychologist has set forth as one of the requirements of a scholar "a disposition toward continued study and intellectual cultivation." There are many men and women here at George Washington who have that disposition, but there are some who do not right at present. The keen interest excited by fraternity rushing, which will probably subside after October 11, will be augmented when the women's groups on the campus get into the swing of educating the freshmen as to the value of their sororities. This process will last until October 25, and a month will have passed in which neither freshmen nor upperclassmen interested in fraternal organizations will have "cracked a book."

All of the organizations in school are busy preparing for the new year, electing new officers, soliciting new members, etc. Classes are forced into the darkest corner, where they serve as a dull backdrop to the more alluring pastimes. Lectures, outside reading assignments, themes—all are very easily postponed until a more leisurely moment, which is further out of reach with each tick of the clock. Scholastic pursuits are not stimulating enough as compared with these outside activities. It might be well to remember that a regular period of study will relieve you of all sorts of difficulties later on. You still have the opportunity to put yourself on the right side of the ledger, and a specific plan of study for the rest of the semester will keep you there.

While There's Life

Our "well organized, enthusiastic cheering group" for which a few spirited students have been clamoring, is still merely an ideal to be attained at some future date.

The Interfraternity Council has taken a constructive step toward converting this ideal into reality, by formulating a plan to organize the pledges of each fraternity on the campus into a unit to learn the cheers as they should be, and attend every home game. It is hoped that this commendable plan will be carried out.

But such a plan is limited in scope. A more representative group, the Student Council, should shoulder this task of generating some real spirit and loyalty throughout the student body. To this group, made up of men and women who are sincerely desirous of accomplishing some good, The Hatchet again suggests action. There has been some doubt as to what the Council could do in the way of constructive work on the campus. It can and should take the lead in an attempt to educate the students in the matter of loyalty. This applies not only to athletic events, but to the general attitude of the student toward the University.

Letters to The Editor

The Hatchet welcomes with appreciation all letters from its readers, whether they be expressions of condemnation or praise. If a letter be one of condemnation of certain policies its constructive criticisms may enable us to eliminate objectionable features. If certain statements made in the columns of The Hatchet are objected to it will give us the opportunity to further explain our position. A letter of praise would always be graciously received.

However, though we wish to encourage every student to express his opinions, we insist upon all communications for publication being signed. It is just so much effort wasted if a person does not wish to make it known to his fellow students that he has certain convictions and is ready to stand up for them.

Letters to Editor

To the Editor:

Last week an editorial appeared in The Hatchet concerning rumored infractions of the Interfraternity Rush Rules. As president of the Interfraternity Council I wish to say that to the best of our knowledge there have been no such infractions. At the meeting Sunday the matter was again brought before the Council and delegates were asked to report any actions of any member organization which might be construed as unethical. There were no reports.

Each delegate to the Council is a committee of one to investigate any violation of the rules. Arrangement has been made to take care of such cases if they should arise. Of course, the system is largely an honorary one, as rushing is normally carried on within individual groups. The Council believes that everything is regular, but we appreciate the interest and welcome the assistance of The Hatchet in keeping the current rush season above reproach.

Sincerely,

C. MANLEY FESLER,
President, Interfraternity Council,
George Washington University.

Other Campuses

"Cinema Club"

A "Cinema Club" has been organized at the University of Southern California for students and alumni interested in the motion picture industry. A "Cinema experimental shop" will carry out projects in movie scenario work, publicity, art and design, electrical engineering, acting and directing, administration, and general production. The group will produce two shorts and one short feature picture during the semester.

The Four "F's"

"Fun is the most important thing in college," Professor Franklin B. Snyder told the Northwestern University freshmen. Friendship, facts, and faith are the other three fruits of a college education. "Fun" was defined as exercising the "muscles of the mind."

Hazers Foiled

Sophomores at the University of Southern California experienced great difficulties in their hazing program. They were hampered by upperclassmen who continually yelled to the freshmen, and even held back members of their squad who were chasing freshmen.

CHIPS

It is hereby proclaimed that Building Z is too far down the alphabet, so the Women's Building shall now be called the Lambie House. Gracious, girls, we can't understand such petty subterfuge. Just wolves in sheep's clothing, that's all. And not a lamb among you. Take off that leopard skin, me fair beauty, you can have my roll.

Helpfulness is always appreciated. Sunday night, as we were grinding out crude humor, a passable freshman (feminine) leaned over our shoulder and hissed, "Oh do you type with one finger?" Which hurt our pride—"Can you do anything to help, youngster?" Dainty shrug and—"No, 'I'm dumb, too.' So we recognized true genius and dated her up.

I'm adding the Interfraternity Council to my business staff. It gives a dance. Five of its members put in some mean competition with rush functions—and still the thing is a whooping financial success. I admire genius, and Jack Vivian can make my dough for me any time he feels like it.

Page Bill Shakespeare! Those who went to the game, Saturday learned that Sunny Jim Pizlee can put on just as big a comedy of Errors as Willy of Stratford-on-Avon ever thought of. Our boys were learning their new plays at Elon's expense, and between the fumbles and kicks we noticed a small freshman (?) play mumblypeg with the water bucket, and Coach Pizlee helping the timekeeper out of a tough spot when his watch jammed. Did anybody notice a third quarter? I guess the whole second half of the game was squashed into the timekeeper's watch.

Nevertheless that 43-0 score just sits up and yelps for itself. That team of ours is a potential pilerdriver, and we're for 'em!!! If you girls are interested, Joe Carter (see fifth column) and Johnnie Doyle both possess likely looking mugs—and can they play a sweet game of football!!!

We're still yelling about a student body that won't yell. If we don't have a pep rally for the Tulsa game, I'm going to give up in disgust. Folks, we're going to need some powerful and concerted cheering for that game. Yours for better spirit and yell!

Johnnie Heimburger is going to give those with a literary inclination a big hand this year. Having been elected high mogul of the Colonial Review, John is willing to give somebody else a hand.

Hurray for ambitious reporters! With nearly a hundred new writers you folks can bank on getting the low down on all the dirt there is in Mar-the-Washington's back yard. Win Weitzel is now wondering which one of the new crop will begin by telling him how to run this weekly. And if any one of them makes a crack about Chips—well, I guess I'll have to put it in the column.

Highsteppers are swinging into action Thursday at twelve noon, sharp. All the little girls with bow legs and spindly shanks will cavort for the edification of Monsieur Sickle. Be sure to come around boys, and give the fair ones a big hand. And girls—a word to the wise—be sure you have Chi O leavings—that is, if you want to make good in the Troubadours.

Of twelve gallons of cider (?) at the Sigma Chi picnic, it is rumored there wasn't a single hot dog left. I always said those boys picked their dates high, wide and handsome(?)

Prof. Elmer Louey will speak to the freshmen women tomorrow on the subject of "Yesterday." No, fair Elmer, that story ought to be good enough for the whole school to hear it. Tell it to Dick Rollo first and we'll tell you whether it's any good or not.

The pink tea craze will follow the hot box period. These freshmen girls will know so much about one sorority from listening to the next sorority that there won't be any dirt left to find out after they're initiated.

Our gliding club is hitting the high spots. Ron Hubbard has helped the club out considerably in a financial way. He has agreed to be present at every night meet so as to eliminate the use of a beacon.

The Engineering school is turning out some experienced engineers these days. Somebody asked a prof in Thermodynamics how the steam got into a boiler. Ask any good housekeeper.

The poor little Student Council is still on the brunt end of the point system argument. With all my activities it rather cramps my style, but I'm simply stunned that they didn't realize that just being Dick Rollo is worth ten Somebody asked the Pan-Hel Council if Kappa Delta was holding an open house in the near future. A representative from Zeta Tau Alpha crashed through with the remark that perhaps they could hold the babies for the married sisters in the other sororities instead of the above function.

Upperclassmen, have you gotten your little sister?

—DICK ROLLO

World News

By JAMES COBERLY

The past week has been, more or less, merely an aftermath of the previous one. England has found that there is more to the solution of her troubles than suspension of the gold standard. Gandhi is still in London. M. Laval and M. Briand went to Berlin and returned safely. Japan has promised to withdraw her troops from Manchuria. Mr. Coolidge sent an unsolicited article to the Saturday Evening Post saying that he would not run in 1932. Mr. Borah decided the same a few days later.

While this was happening the Democrats won an overwhelming victory in Missouri and found that, by virtue of a recount, they had excellent prospects of another seat from Illinois. Chinese students mobbed and seriously injured their Foreign Minister Wang. A great deal was said about wage reductions, and four major trunk lines of the east finally submitted an agreement to the I. C. C. for consolidation.

Although great uneasiness still exists, Britishers are feeling a little freer after the repeal of the gold conversion act. Most of the stock exchanges of the continent were closed or followed the example of the New York Exchange and forbade short selling. Norway, Sweden and Egypt are the latest to go off the gold standard. Many countries have shifted from the pound sterling to the American dollar or the French franc as the basis of exchange. English securities and bonds rose after the exchange opened and the market seemed firm.

Premier MacDonald was faced with the perplexing question whether or not to call an election and desert his Laborites, who, by the way, have already denounced him. Action was delayed by King George's belief that such a proceeding would be fatal at the present time. Added to this, Gandhi, who says that Mahatma means "an insignificant one," remains in London trying to bribe industrial England into support of Indian independence. He refuses to abide by the reservations proposed in the new Indian bill. "Nor can he wait for a general election."

In New York it was announced that there was plenty of gold to pay all claims which might be made. The United States now has about 44 per cent of the world's supply. France has half as much to her credit. Some excitement has been raised by a "Back-to-Bryan" movement. Both here and in England a good many words have been wasted upon the merits of Bryanism. It seems that another case of a man born 25 years too soon.

M. Laval and M. Briand carried the white dove of peace to Germany after a great deal of ballyhoo and the selection of crowds to greet them. Herr Bruening and Herr Curtius met them and they talked very amiably. The event was somewhat overshadowed by the announcement by the French statesmen that they would accept President Hoover's invitation to visit the United States next month.

Besides entertaining the Lindberghs, China has had a first-class scrap with Japan on her hands. Fighting has ceased and Japan has promised the League of Nations to withdraw her troops immediately. The Japanese army does not move very swiftly, however, and Chinese students have shouted themselves hoarse with denunciations of the League's traitorship. This feeling reached a climax when a mob invaded the residence of Foreign Minister C. T. Wang, and by means of a general assault upon that person voiced its disapproval of his actions in the affair.

Freshmen Play Devitt In Initial Game On Saturday

Prepsters Appear Weak; Easy Game For Sexton's Men

Buff and Blue Point for Revenge Battle With Western Maryland October 17

The 1931 edition of the George Washington Freshmen football team will display its wares for the first time on Saturday at Eastern Stadium with Devitt Prep as the opposition. With the varsity in Boston, followers of the Buff and Blue gridiron destiny will turn undivided attention to a glimpse into the future.

Unfortunately Devitt appears too weak to cause the first year men much trouble but Coach Jean Sexton will

No wonder men smoke PIPES!

EVERY PIPE SMOKER has the satisfaction of knowing he has one masculine right that the women won't take away from him. They do leave our pipes alone.

And though the girls may not know it, they're leaving us one of the finest smokes a man can have.

There's something calm and soothing about a pipe and good tobacco. It leads to clear-headed thinking. Perhaps that's why the leaders—the real men of the world—are pipe smokers.

The favorite smoke of college men

A pipe is the one thing that a man can't do without. It's the one thing that a man can't do without. It's the one thing that a man can't do without.

use this game to prepare for Western Maryland the following week which promises to be the high spot of the season.

Devitt dropped their opening game Saturday to St. Albans Prep, 26 to 0, in a one-sided contest in which the Saints were easy victors. Devitt is without a single victory.

Show Real Stuff

With but a little over a week's practice, Sexton's squad of 31 have shown some real stuff and are rapidly dropping excess weight and showing other signs of rounding into condition. As part of this conditioning process the varsity was allowed to work out on the class of 1935 but the newcomers seemed none the worse for the experience.

With four more practice sessions before the game it is difficult to even make a guess as to the starting line-up. Sexton has about half a score backfield men to pick from and twice as many linemen.

As candidates for the quarterback position two triple threat men hold the spotlight. Trilling, former Emerson High star, and Knott are most likely to get the call. Hale, Venderburg and Nielson seemed to have plenty of stuff in the first few workouts but other backs are showing up well as they get into condition. Among the latter is Draper, another Emerson High graduate.

May Use Entire Squad

Andy Gleason, another local boy, has been playing a smart game in the line and may start against Devitt. Kresky and Coombs are likely to be in the starting line-up also.

Coach Sexton will probably use the entire squad in this game in order to get an idea of just how the men will look under fire. Indications are that the Western Maryland game, the following Saturday, will be a tough battle and the boys will be saved for this tussle.

The Western Maryland game takes a prominent place in the schedule as a revenge battle for the single defeat suffered by the 1929 Frosh. That history making team that beat the Navy Plebes lost to the Maryland team 7 to 6 on a forward pass.

Phi Sigma Kappa's Golfers Win Match

First Interfraternity Golf Match Was Played Saturday

The lid was blown off Interfraternity golf Saturday when Phi Sigma Kappa downed Theta Delta Chi 2-1. Phi Sig lost its best golfer when Johnnie Thacker went to Harvard Law School this fall, but despite this fact it put a good team on the field. Kendrick, who played with the Eye Streeters last year, looks as though he will be able to fill Thacker's shoes.

In the first foursome, Kendrick and Brower defeated Henderson and Parker, Theta Delt aces, 7 and 6 for the best ball point, and had a gross score of 81 strokes less than their opponents, which gave the Phi Sigs a total of two points in that foursome.

Hoover and Merryman lost their best ball tally in the second foursome, but were able to keep on even terms in the low gross score with Jones and Bouve of Theta Delt, giving Theta Delt one point.

Kendrick has just returned from a trip in the south and seems to be playing a good style of golf. He was consistently in front of the tees and played a good all-round steady game.

The next match will be played this coming Sunday on the East Potomac Course.

Again the Student Council receives criticism. The newly established position of cheer leader will receive one point according to the much touted point system; varsity football men receive one-half point for their meager services. Enough said!

Speaking of cheer leaders and cheering, if those of the student body who attend the football games would be a bit more enthusiastic and vociferous, they could become under the leadership of Jerry Siskler and his proteges a cheering section on a par of any found in local quarters.

A number of George Washington students were overheard at the game last Saturday discussing this matter of yelling, etc., and they attributed the lack of enthusiasm and noise to the heat. May it be called to their attention—and others too—that certain students of this university cannot blame the heat for any lack of spirit or loyalty. Think of the football men.

There were two shining lights in the Elton game and they were Joe Carter and Johnny Doyle. If these two boys stay off the sick list and continue to dazzle as they did in the last contest our future opponents had better watch out. The salient factors of Carter's brilliance in running the ball lies in his uncanny accuracy in picking holes in the opposing line and his exceptional high stepping lengthy stride. Coach Jim Pixley should not worry any longer about obtaining a competent passer if Johnny Doyle's heaving in the last contest is indicative of his future activity. His short passes had bullet like speed combined with excellent timing and accuracy, while his long heaves were as accurate.

Our football team has had its last easy game and although Boston University, its next adversary, has been beaten by Williams and New Hampshire it is expected that the Massachusetts team will offer more opposition than either Elton or Shenandoah. However, Max Farrington's terse comment, "They'll come back winners," expresses the general opinion. On Friday night, October 16, the Colonials meet what is considered their toughest foe, Tulsa University from the Southwest. From the meager information gleaned from the news sheets Tulsa looks strong and the George Washington eleven will have to use all the fight, strategy and skill it possesses to eke out a victory. Last Saturday Tulsa University beat Texas Christian, which is reported to have a powerful outfit this year, by the conclusive score of 18 to 0.

One encouraging score was found in the Sunday journals and that was Ohio University 40, Butler O. However, on delving deeper into the intricacies of doping results of football games it is found that the above score is not as encouraging as it appears, for the Ohio gridmen are supposed to have one of the most powerful combinations in the middle west, and considering the inevitable substitutions that a coach of an exceptionally strong squad makes when playing a weaker opponent, Butler must have put up rather stiff opposition.

The George Washington University football team has to date in two games amassed a total of 96 points to their opponents' none. If such a pace is maintained by our doughty gridiron warriors, perhaps our comparatively obscure eleven will achieve a record for the total number of points obtained.

Devitt will be the first opponent of the Colonial yearlings and as the prep school has a weak team this year the youngsters are expected to walk away with the contest. Their next match will be with the young terrors of Western Maryland and the G. W. U. freshmen will be extended considerably to obtain a victory. The mountaineers are always formidable and they were the only freshman team that beat the strong Colonial 1929 yearling outfit.

It is reported that a student band is being organized by Ted Rhinehart, member of the Student Council and of the Law School, and he has requested that all students that are able to play band instruments and desire to obtain a place in the organization to get in touch with him at the Kappa Alpha fraternity house, 1901 R Street, N. W., phone North 4381.

Jerry Siskler has obtained President Marvin's endorsement for the staging of a pep rally in Corcoran Hall 10 and in the Yard as a preliminary to the Tulsa game. Extensive preparations are being made to make this an event of note. Loudspeakers are to be installed so as to make the speakers heard throughout the Yard. Everyone should make plans to be there—and also—at the game.

Fraternity Tennis In Second Round Of Fall Tourney

Five Teams Remain to Compete for Interfraternity Council Cup

Interfraternity tennis, which made its debut last Sunday, has progressed through the first round with Phi Sigma Kappa downing Theta Upsilon Omega 4-1, Sigma Nu triumphing over Sigma Alpha Epsilon 4-1; Kappa Sigma defeating Kappa Alpha 3-0, and Sigma Chi taking the measure of Acacia 3-0. Theta Delta Chi had previously downed Delta Tau Delta 3-2, and Sigma Phi Epsilon had drawn a bye.

In the second round Sigma Nu was scheduled to meet Sigma Phi Epsilon, but the snakes claimed the decision over the latter by a forfeit.

Kappa Sigma found easy work in winning over Kappa Alpha. Baldwin, of Kappa Sig, played Creyke in the first match and waded through him, 6-0, 6-4. Jones, also of Kappa Sig, took the measure of Pagan, 6-1, 6-3. This match was much more interesting than the score indicated, however, as both these boys were playing real tennis. In the doubles Baldwin and Jones downed Creyke and Pagan, K. A. number one and two men. This was just another slaughter of the innocents, 6-1, 6-1.

Sigma Chi Shows Class
The Sigma Chi-Acacia match was another case of too much class as the boys from N street were flashing unusual racket activity to down the Masons, 3-0. Orblison, who plays number 1 for Sigma Chi, was merciless in his treatment of Helvestine, taking his measure 6-1. His stroking and placing was almost perfect. Lockwood, also of Sigma Chi, had a fairly

Cheer Leaders Meet To Organize Squad

Pledges to Be Organized Into Cheering Section; Stunts at Half Time

Cheerleading aspirants have been coming to the fore in the past week with twenty reporting to Jerry Siskler and offering their services. These men will meet twice a week at the gym to practice the cheers. Siskler, Burgess, and George, who officiated at the last game, will be on the squad. Two more men will be selected so that for the Tulsa game there will be five men to lead the cheering section.

Plans have been outlined to have the fraternity pledges organized in a cheering section at all games and also to participate in stunts during half time. This will give uniform cheering, something that has been entirely lacking at G. W.

Jerry Siskler has consulted President Marvin about having loud speakers installed in Corcoran Hall and in the yard for the purposes of pep meetings before the games. Plans are now going forward, and with the help of the Engineering School it is hoped to have everything completed for a pep rally before the Tulsa game.

OUR INVENTIVE MENTOR

Our astute head coach, James E. Pixley, has an inventive mind as it was he who conceived of what is known as the "Rhythm Machine." There is a good deal of mystery attached to this apparatus. Fundamentally it is a periodic sounding of one of the horns on Coach Pixley's automobile and through these harmonic sounds the team learns to go through its plays with a rhythm that could not be obtained in any other way.

gave added opportunity to become acquainted with the country and the people. She found in Ljubljana and Zagreb valuable material for her coming lectures. One of the most beautiful places in all Yugoslavia is Bled, situated on a lovely lake of the same name and in the midst of mountains belonging to the Julian Alps.

During Mrs. Carroll's stay in Bled, which is really the summer capital of Yugoslavia, it was the center of a general celebration throughout the country in honor of the tenth anniversary of King Alexander's reign. When the King arrived all the heads of diplomatic missions were in residence. At nightfall, the medieval castle on the rocky height over the town was aglow with reflected light. Boats with varicolored lanterns glided about on the lake, rockets soared into the sky and the King's summer palace on the lakeside was ablaze with light.

Mrs. Carroll's final pilgrimage was to the historic region of Italy at the head of the Adriatic Sea and especially to the site of the once prosperous Roman City, Aquileia. Today only a little hamlet clusters around the grand old basilica which, with its famous bell-tower, is a monument to Christian Aquileia. During this summer there has been a memorable observance of the ninth centenary of this far famed basilica, participated in by high dignitaries of the church, officials of the government, archaeologists, the townspeople and thousands of visitors.

Interesting History Of Lambie House Brought to Life

Every one of George Washington's buildings has an interesting past; but the newly acquired Lambie Building has a history that is a warning to all would-be architects. Today it stands complete in every way. But it was not always thus. When the house was built, sometime during the last century, it lacked a very vital portion of any building's anatomy.

It all came about in this manner. The original owner and builder was a very fine admiral who made the fatal error of believing himself an architect of no little ability. He himself carefully drew up all the plans for his new home.

Then duty called him to cruise the seas, and he was forced to leave the house in the hands of the builder. The plans were turned over with strict orders that they should not be deviated from in the least detail.

When the admiral returned from his voyages his house was complete—except that in all its three stories it had no stairs. Orders were orders. The admiral had included no stairs in his plans; the builder had obediently put none in the house.

University Students Are Self-Supporting

Colleges Established by Government Give Chance to Earn Expenses

From material collected recently for a survey of 52 land-grant colleges and universities conducted in the Federal Office of Education, figures indicate that a very large proportion of students in the United States earn their way through college.

Reports from 34,589 alumni and former students show that 72 per cent were self-supporting wholly or in part while they attended college and that the remaining 28 per cent depended upon their parents for the expenses of their higher education.

America's land-grant colleges were established by the Government and supported by public taxation to provide higher educational opportunities for many who might be deterred from college by high tuition and especially for the energetic and ambitious of this class. They became pioneers in Engineering, Agriculture, and Home Making Education. Results of the survey disclosing the unusually large numbers of self-supporting students indicate that the land-grant colleges are accomplishing their purpose.

The study showed that a greater proportion of the students pursuing courses in Agriculture were self-supporting than in any other field of study, the percentage being 88. Next on the list were students in Engineering and those preparing to become teachers. The proportion of students in arts and sciences who paid their way through college was 82 per cent. In the case of women students in home economics, only one-half of them were wholly or partially self-supporting. The opportunities for women to earn their way while in college were found to be fewer than those for the men.

easy time in downing Layman in the second match to the tune of 6-3, 6-1. The third match was equally as one-sided when Walker of Sigma Chi pointed the way to Brooks, 6-2, 6-1.

Phi Sigma Kappa flashed their usual good brand of tennis to put Theta Upsilon Omega down by the score of 4-1. Bennett, who always plays consistent tennis, started the ball rolling by thoroughly thrashing Taylor of T. U. O., 6-1, 6-0. Jackson, Phi Sig number two man, then duplicated the performance by handing McCain a 6-1, 6-0 beating. Rice, who played the third singles match for Phi Sig, found the sledding a bit rougher as McGrew seemed in good form. He emerged at the small end of a 6-0, 8-6 score. The second set was very strenuous and it looked for a time as though it would go into three sets.

The first doubles match between Bennett and Stehman of Phi Sig and Taylor and Clayton was a long drawn out affair. Phi Sig took the first fairly easy, 6-3, but they had a tough time finally winning the second, 13-11. Jackson and Rice, who played number two doubles for Phi Sig against McGrew and McCraig, provided the feature of the match. Phi Sig took the first, 6-3, and then T. U. O. returned the compliment by taking the second match, 6-1. The third match was fairly close as they had each won one, but Phi Sig finally triumphed, 6-4.

Sigma Nu Shows Way

The last match was between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu. In this match the R street boys showed the Sig Alphas how tennis is played, taking four out of five matches. Allen, of Sigma Nu, led off by downing Parker, 6-4, 7-5. This match was very interesting as both were in good condition and were fairly evenly matched. Mitchell, of Sigma Nu, and Durham, of S. A. E., furnished the action in the second match. Mitchell took the first set, 6-2, and then Durham came back to cop the second, 6-3. This matched them evenly and the third set went overtime until Mitchell finally won, 7-5. The third singles match resulted in a victory for S. A. E. when Free triumphed over Simpson, 6-3, 6-4.

The doubles gave S. N. the edge when Allen and Mitchell, Sigma Nu, took the measure of Parker and Durham, 6-3, 6-4. Simpson and Winston, of Sigma Nu, garnered the fourth victory when they beat Burgess and Hall, 6-3, 6-3.

Sigma Chi will meet Phi Sigma Kappa in League A and Theta Delta will play the winner for the league championship. Sigma Nu will meet Kappa Sigma in League B and the winner will play in the finals.

Co-ed Smokers Rebel

Northwestern co-eds are quite incensed over no smoking rules. A snooping sleuth counted twenty women smoking within two days, and unearthed a large quantity of cigarette butts from an ash can behind a sorority house. And a kind professor advised them to take up the pipe in place of cigarettes if they wanted to get the most enjoyment out of smoking.

Colonials Triumph Over Elon In Second Football Victory

a few poorly executed plays a George Washington fumble was followed by a fumble on the part of the Elon eleven. Shortly after the substitution of an entire new team by Coach Pixlee, Johnny Doyle intercepted one of the North Carolinian passes and romped 30 yards for the lone counter of this quarter.

Doyle's Passing Noteworthy

Following the kick-off the G. W. gridmen smoothly executed a few plays, fumbled, held Elon for downs, and then that ground-covering demon, Joe Carter, ran back a punt for 30 yards. A short pass flipped by Doyle to Fred Mulvey counted for six points. A little later in the same semester, Doyle again was an important factor in scoring by heaving a beautiful 40-yard pass to Mulvey, who was calmly waiting for the ball on the other side of the line. A pass from Doyle to Chambers resulted in the only point after a touchdown of the game.

Another steady tramp by the Colonials toward their opponent's goal, in the last period, resulted in a score when Parrish, a substitute back, reeled off the last 20 yards for the counter. The final point was also achieved by Parrish who intercepted one of the long Elon passes and covered 55 yards before he reached the double stripe.

Fraternity rush week is here and what fun for the girls! There have been scores of parties during the past four days and there will be many more this week. The rush functions this year, quoting an observer, are well planned and more fun than ever before. How nice to date a popular freshman!

Kappa Sigma Dance Proves Popular

Kappa Sigma entertained freshman men and scores of attractive young ladies with a dance on Friday, October 2, at their house. The Night

Hawks furnished the music and what grand music it was!

Delta Tau Delta gave a theatre party for its rushes Wednesday night, September 30, at the Belasco. "Once in a Life Time," was the production and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Wednesday and Thursday were devoted to smokers. Almost every social fraternity on the campus had smokers either one or both nights.

Theta Upsilon Omega gave a dance at the house Friday night for potential brothers.

Saturday night was an extremely popular one with all the fraternities. Girls who dated freshmen were rushed from one dance to the other and every one had a great time. Sigma Chi had an extremely interesting party in the form of a wiener roast. The place was down in the woods in Dolph Atherton's backyard and the setting—a huge fire, and many automobile seats. The characters, a profitable group of freshmen, all the Sigs, and an impressive group of the popular weaker sex.

K. A. Starts Rushing Season With Dance

Kappa Alpha started their rush season off with one of their well known dances. Dagmoir furnished the music and we all decided one never goes wrong in rushing K. A. dances.

Anyone who attended Phi Sigma Kappa radio parties during the summer will vouch for their popularity. The Phi Sigs entertained their rushes with one Saturday night and it was great!

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Theta Delta Chi both gave dances Saturday night at their respective houses. We'll quote the lucky ones who were there that both were in the old form and well attended.

The Interfraternity Council, in spite of predictions and in defiance of five fraternity functions, came through with a socially and financially successful dance Saturday night. Over two hundred were in attendance, and that looks well for the future success of their dollar dances.

Large Crowds Attend Grid Battles

Football games were extremely well attended this week-end. We could go on forever naming G. W.ites we saw at the Navy-William and Mary game, to say nothing of the crowd that attended our own successful game.

Caroline Brasch returned Sunday from a two-month trip in San Francisco where she visited her aunt. We had begun to think she was going to desert George Washington for a western university.

Mr. and Mrs. Channing Davis have recently returned from their honeymoon in the White Mountains and are now at home in their apartment on Massachusetts Avenue. Mrs. Davis is the former Billie Wright.

Dorothy Fowler Feted At Supper

Catherine Dennis entertained at supper Tuesday, September 27, in honor of Dorothy Faith Fowler, whose engagement to Lt. Edward K. Furness, has recently been announced. Among those present were Virginia Mahurin, Virginia Hawkins, Betty Coon and Jane Edwards.

WHO'S WHO

Gerald Free

With the attention of the student body turned to football, Gerald Free, manager of varsity football, gains prominence through his excellent service in this position, as well as in other varied capacities. His interest at George Washington was first claimed by the Advertising Staff of The Hatchet, on which he held the position of assistant manager. Managerial positions proved to be Gerald's forte, for not only did he serve on The Hatchet but became assistant manager of football, and, as further proof of his proficiency, he became manager of varsity football.

Presto, Change!
and this Pocket Pen becomes a Tapered Desk Pen
all you need is this attachable taper

GIVEN FREE

with every Parker Duofold Pen Purchased before Nov. 10th

Saves you $5 to $10

The Parker Duofold is like two pens for the price of one. Attaching a tapered pen-end converts this Pocket Pen into a Desk Set Pen—removing the taper restores it to a Pocket Pen. Thus, if you get a Parker Pocket Pen, all you need to have a complete Desk Set is a Parker ball-and-socket Desk Base to hold the Pen, at $2.50 and upward. You need not buy a special desk pen. Thus Parker Duofold's double-duty feature saves you $5 to $10.

Twenty-five thousand Parker dealers throughout the United States are now demonstrating this, and giving away five hundred thousand pen tapers, so that Parker Pen buyers can have two pens in one. This gift offer ends Nov. 15—sooner if all free tapers are gone.

But until that time, every purchaser of a Parker Duofold Pen will receive a pen taper free, whether he buys a Desk Base or not! There's a Parker dealer near your college. Stop in and see this demonstration before this offer expires.

Special to Parker Pen Owners: Dealers will also give you the Taper FREE, so you can convert the pen you have, if you get a Parker Desk Base. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.

Fashions

For Men

There are so many new styles for fall for the up-to-date young man that he will prefer that we discuss them one at a time.

First, let's consider that new fall suit. The smartest patterns are in small pin checks and what is called the all-over designs. Sharkskins are quite representative of this trend. Materials are almost entirely worsteds. Colors are dark.

The tendency as to model is to a more form-fitting coat, higher rise trousers and a little shorter vest to correspond with the higher rise of the trousers. The trouser bottoms are at least not any narrower than they were; namely, 19 to 20 inches.

Notch Lapel Popular

The notch lapel coat will be the most popular model, although some peak lapel coats are being used. The double-breasted coat is particularly good this fall for university men.

The entire style trend can be summed up in a few words by saying that it is a trend to more dressiness, more cleanness and sharper style lines.

The next fall style to discuss is most logically the new fall hat. As a general tendency, brims are a little wider and hat crowns a little lower.

Hat Styles Varied

The snap brim hat will probably again be far the most popular shape, although there is a tendency this fall toward more formality in dress, which operates against the snap brim hat—and in favor of the Welt Edge and Homburg styles. The most popular Welt Edge has quite a narrow welt, and the most popular Homburg or D'Orsay curl has no brim binding. This gives a new angle to this hat, and has a practical feature as well—namely, that there is no binding on the edge to soil easily.

As to the colors, the most popular will be grey on account of the extreme popularity of grey suits. Another style trend which is typically that of the university man is the dark brown snap brim hat. This style has had a most peculiar history this summer. Where normally one would expect the college man in summer to wear the Panama, in a great many cases he wore a dark brown, snap brim, light weight felt hat. The marked color contrast which this hat made with the which linen suits which most university men wore made the style extremely obvious. As a result, there is no question but that this trend will carry well in the fall.

Felt hats for fall are interesting, smart looking and still adhere strictly

Dan Cupid Thrives In Modern Colleges

33 Per Cent of Married People Met Mates in Institutions

There was a time, not so long ago, when countless parents solemnly impressed their daughters with the fact that a college education would, without the least doubt, ruin all their chances of marriage. Too much study, they said, was merely equivalent to the seven deadly sins.

Now Columbia University throws a bombshell directly in the midst of this ancient theory. Modern marriage, in all its aspects has been given a scientific study and cold, hard statistics reveal that thirty three per cent of the people questioned in the survey met their mates in some educational institution.

For reasons unknown the people with whom one struggles over Zoology and German literature are very likely to appeal as a future ball and chain. Actual brains may scare the average male, but the girl who pretends to be acquiring them has the prospect of a good "catch" to lighten her years of hard labor.

Columbia's statistical report, it has been suggested, should be included in the catalogues and advertisements of every enterprising university.

Youngstown Schools Surveyed By French

Studies Elementary Branch of the Public School System

Dr. William Cullen French, acting dean of the School of Education of The George Washington University, is assisting in the public school survey of the city of Youngstown, Ohio, which is being conducted by the United States Office of Education. Dr. French was selected to study the elementary branch of the school system and will make several trips to Youngstown during October, preparatory to the report which will be published by the Office of Education.

The course in Industrial Arts Education being offered this semester by the School of Education under Professor Lois Coffey Mossman, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, will hold its first session today with a record enrollment of members of the teaching corps of the District Public Schools. Other new projects of the School of Education which will start this week are the extension classes to be given in Alexandria and in Fairfax.

Sigma Delta Phi Sponsors Women's Oratory Contest; Freshman Students Eligible

Sigma Delta Phi, honorary speech arts fraternity for women, is sponsoring an oratorical contest for freshman women to be held on December 4, at 8 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall. All women taking at least nine hours' work or who have completed not more than 30 hours' work, are eligible. A silver cup will be awarded the winner and the runner-up will be given honorable mention.

Contestants may choose any subject of a persuasive nature, the speech to be ten minutes' in length. Manuscripts are to be turned in to the Public Speaking office not later than November 20, and from these will be chosen the best to be delivered on December 4. The speakers will be notified on November 23 of the choice.

Professor Willard Hayes Yeager, of the Public Speaking Department, will act as one of the judges, the other two to be announced later.

Glider Club to Hold Meeting Friday Night

Dr. Glenn Elliot, of Congressional Airport School, to Speak

The G. W. Glider Club will hold its first meeting Friday, October 9, at 8:30 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 29. At that time the new charter will be voted upon and new members will be enrolled. Dr. Glenn Elliott, of the Congressional Airport Glider School, will deliver a talk on gliding.

Professor A. F. Johnson, acting dean of the Engineering School, has a site for glider flights in mind which he thinks will be ideal. This project, however, depends upon its accessibility and the procuring of a soaring plane.

L. Ron Hubbard, the club's president, operated a glider school during the summer at Port Huron, Mich., with fair success although he had nothing but primary gliders at his disposal.

Ray A. Heimburger, vice president, distinguished himself at the Baltimore air show last June in a spot landing contest.

All Upper Class Women Are Urged to Attend Fall Sports Practices

Now that Fall sports are getting under way all upperclass women are urged to try out for a team. The sports offered are hockey, soccer, and tennis for those who like vigorous action on a crisp Autumn day, and archery, which will appeal to those who take their exercise in a milder form.

All junior and senior women who are interested in any of these sports are requested to come out beginning this week and get in the needed practice to make their class team. For further information see Miss Atwell in the gym office.

Application for class managerships of the various sports should be made at this time.

KEEP KISSABLE

WITH OLD GOLDS

Charming women are first won by OLD GOLDS' appealing taste. But their enthusiasm doubles when they find that OLD GOLDS do not taint the breath or mar the whiteness of pearly teeth.

That's because OLD GOLD is a pure-tobacco cigarette. Made from the finest nature-flavored tobacco. So good, it needs no added flavoring.

It's "foreign flavoring," not good tobacco . . . that leaves unwanted aftermaths. Play safe. Smoke pure-tobacco O.G.s. They leave nothing behind but pleasant recollections.
